Big opportunity

We found 5 gaps in this business's public Google listing. Each one below comes with a practical fix.

The Gap Score runs from 0 to 100. Higher means more gaps in the public listing, and more room to grow.

1 Your Google Business Profile is not claimed +40

Google shows a claim option on this listing, which means no owner has verified it yet.

Why it matters. Until it is claimed, you can't add photos, reply to reviews, post updates or correct your details, and anyone can suggest edits to it.

Practical fix. Claim and verify the profile at business.google.com, then check your name, address, phone, hours and categories.

2 No website is linked to your listing +25

The listing has no website link.

Why it matters. Many customers want to check services, prices or credentials before they call. Without a website they have nowhere to go but the next listing.

Practical fix. Link a website to your profile. Even a simple one-page site with your services, service area, photos and a call button helps.

3 Few Google reviews +15

The listing has 3 reviews (we flag fewer than 20).

Why it matters. Reviews are one of the first things people read when choosing a local business, and a short review history can make a good business look unproven.

Practical fix. Ask happy customers for a review right after each job, with a direct review link by text or email, and reply to every review you get.

4 Your average rating is below 4.0 +10

The listing shows an average rating of 3.7 out of 5.

Why it matters. Many people filter or skim by star rating, so a rating under 4.0 can cost you calls before anyone reads the details.

Practical fix. Reply politely to critical reviews, fix the recurring issues they mention, and keep asking satisfied customers to share their experience.

5 Few photos on your listing +10

The listing has 7 photos (we flag fewer than 10).

Why it matters. Photos show customers your work, your team and your premises. Listings with few photos give them less to trust.

Practical fix. Upload recent photos of your work, team, vehicles and storefront, and add a few new ones every month.
